

County Attorney Says Verdict Does Not End Case of Pingree Car's Killing Ellis Larson

County Attorney David J. Wilson announced today that he was making an investigation to determine the speed at which Frank Pingree was driving when he struck Ellis J. Larson at the intersection of Twenty-first street and Washington avenue on Friday night last, resulting in the death of Larson.

The measurements as taken by the police officials indicate that the car was traveling at a rapid rate of speed. County Attorney Wilson said, but no action will be taken until further evidence has been procured, he said.

It is also understood that witnesses that are said to have seen the car traveling north just before the fatal accident occurred are to be interviewed by the county attorney in order to get more light on the rate of speed at which the car was proceeding when it neared the intersection of Twenty-first street.

According to still other witnesses that were not called to testify at the coroner's inquest, Frank Pingree was forced to swing out and to the right at Twenty-first street to avoid colliding with the Twenty-first street car as it started up Twenty-first street just prior to the accident, passing in front of the car just before striking Larson.

SEARCH FOR WOMAN

Police officials are engaged in a search for a woman who is said to have been on the Twenty-first street car the night in question and who remarked about the speed at which the automobile was traveling and who remained on the car after William Masters, 2128 Madison avenue, left the car with his wife, both of whom testified at the inquest as to the speed at which the automobile was traveling.

Relative to the coroner's inquest and its findings County Attorney Wilson said today that the inquest was merely to determine whether the killing was accidental or not and that the finding of the jury had no bearing on the bringing of a complaint against Frank Pingree or the charging of him with involuntary manslaughter.

As to whether a complaint would be issued, he said, depended largely upon the outcome of the investigations that were now being made as to the rate of speed at which the car was traveling.

The two automobile killings coming so close together with the action in the Woodmansee trial is the subject of widespread comment. The Standard-Examiner has been kept busy answering phone calls from persons who declare they are not satisfied with the situation.

Mrs. Mary Matson, president of the Civic League in an interview said today:

"Many telephone calls have come to me deploring the fact that a young man with a high powered car can kill a pedestrian and, as the saying goes, 'get away with it'.

"The Civic League is meeting this afternoon and a petition is being circulated among all of the women of the city calling upon Mayor Frank Francis to take some action along the line of an ordinance which will compel automobile drivers to be more careful and to slow down at street intersections."

"I reside at Twenty-fourth and Jefferson avenue and there isn't a day that passes but what I can see young men dashing by in their automobiles. The condition where no one feels safe on the streets is deplorable and something must be done to correct it."

"As soon as the petition has been circulated it will be placed before Mayor or Francis. You may state that the Civic League and I make this statement on account of the numerous telephone messages I have received allowing reckless driving as it is being carried on in the city."

SITUATION DREADED

Mrs. J. E. Hobbs, former president of the city federation of women's clubs commenting today upon the serious accidents that have occurred recently in Ogden, said: "I believe the situation here is dreadful. The exonerations of a driver who has had the reputation of a 'speeder' tends to make the condition worse. Of course, I have not had the opportunity personally to investigate the circumstances surrounding the recent accidents, but from the general expressions I have heard from many people, I know that public sentiment was against allowing them to go unpunished and again place the lives of people in jeopardy."

"I shall do all I can to aid in stopping speeding. I mean to take the matter up at meetings at once and protest against speeders allowed to go unpunished. Every time I step out on the street I am in fear of my own life and of other members of my family. The fear keeps me in a perfect state of misery."

RADICAL ACTION NEEDED

Mrs. R. A. Moyes, president of the Child Culture club, said: "The three recent serious accidents in Ogden prove conclusively that some radical steps must be taken at once to stop the taking of more lives by automobiles. I don't know whether it is disregard of traffic regulations or the making of pedestrians by motorists, but there must be some way to bring a stop to it and it should be done at once. I have followed the three recent cases closely and as head of a civic organization, will be glad to take any steps that may bring about safer conditions for pedestrians. I was awed by the last death a few nights ago. I would rather not make a statement of opinion regarding this accident, for I know the driver personally."

JOFFRE GIVEN WARM GREETING

French Marshal Is Accorded Rousing Welcome on Arrival Here

Marshal Joseph Jacques "Poppa" Joffre was given a hero's reception in Ogden yesterday.

The French marshal arrived in Ogden from San Francisco en route to the east. He was accompanied by Mme. Joffre and Mlle. Germaine Joffre, their daughter.

Governor Charles R. Mabey, world war veteran, Mayor Frank Francis of Ogden, veterans of the G. A. R., American legion members, former service men, high school cadets and hundreds of Ogden citizens crowded at the station to greet the French generalissimo.

Marshal Joffre reviewed two companies of cadets with the colors from the Ogden high school under the command of Colonel C. G. Lawrence.

He also met ten gray haired veterans of the war between the north and south. He saluted and he was pleased to meet veterans of the civil war and the soldiers of the war of 1914-1918.

He was officially welcomed to Utah and Ogden by Governor Mabey and Mayor Frank Francis.

Colonel James A. Howell, retired, of the judge advocate general's department with General Pershing's headquarters who has met Marshal Joffre a number of occasions, was greeted by the marshal, who expressed pleasure at the meeting.

Bugles of the cadet corps sounded three flourishes while Marshal Joffre was inspecting the cadets, the honor paid to the general of the American army.

Commander E. A. Littlefield of the Herman Baker Post No. 9, of the American legion had charge of the show program.

It is estimated that about 1500 people greeted the marshal. After a 20-minute stop in Ogden, Marshal Joffre and party departed for Chicago via Denver.

CITY COMMISSION ORDERS WELL PUMPS

The board of city commissioners today instructed the city attorney to enter into a contract with the Sullivan Machinery company of Chicago, for the purchase of a lift pump machinery to be installed at the artesian wells in Ogden canyon to increase the flow of water for city use.

The machinery is expected to be delivered in Ogden a week following the closing of the contract and will be installed at once. The equipment will cost approximately $4100. Includes motors, air-compressors and piping.

Through forcing compressed air into the wells it has been demonstrated by tests that the flow can be greatly increased. It is believed that this system will accelerate the flow to an extent that enough water will be produced to take care of Ogden's need for years and that savings of thousands of dollars will result.

B. Y. U. WOMAN TO TALK BEFORE CLUB

Miss Alice Reynolds, of the Brigham Young university at Provo, will address the members of the Ogden Historical society, their friends and other interested women at the Central Junior High school, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. HEALTHY BODY PROTECTS SELF

(Special Dispatch)

LOGAN, April 12.—At the weekly chapel exercises held at the Utah Agricultural college Dr. George W. Middleton, of Salt Lake, pointed out some of the many evidences which go to show that the human body was designed by an omnipotent intelligence.

"In my early studies of medical science the great phenomenon of yellow fever was puzzling the medical world," began Dr. Middleton. "The disease had its geographical boundaries outside of which it did not exist. It was discovered that the germs of the disease were carried by a certain type of mosquito. It was also found that the fever would not attack the colored races. This latter fact was colored races. This latter fact was due to the bad smelling oil that was present on the bodies of the colored people. This proved that the colored man was adapted to the climate in which he lived and that a white man would, under such conditions, soon perish."

"In studying the mechanism of the human body we see the extraordinary plan which has been carried out to prevent distribution by mere accidents. If an artery is severed the body sends out material to bridge over the invasion and a new circulation is set up.

"The blood contains a substance which, when exposed to air, causes it to coagulate and thus prevent one from bleeding to death through a slight injury. The great power back of the plan of the body had foreseen and prepared for aid to be given in time of need.

"When something happens to the abdominal organs the patient immediately begins to vomit. This is to prevent any food which might be in the stomach, from damaging the delicate organs of digestion. Another means of protection is found in the part played by the white corpuscles of the blood. When a part of the body is injured great numbers of these white corpuscles are sent to the scene of infection to act as scavengers. Again when a person is attacked by poisonous germs the body immediately manufactures an anti-toxin to neutralize the poison which in most cases sets up an immunity to that disease which nature anticipates to come again.

"When we study this wonderful structure, the body, we cannot help but feel that the Great Intelligence, comprehended all the processes that were to bear directly on the body."

BAND COMPETES $600 IS RAISED WITH ORCHESTRA AT B. B. DANCE

Musicians to Determine Which Is More Popular With Dancers

Band or orchestra?

Which is best for dancing?

That is the question to be decided by Ogden musicians and Ogden dancers on Wednesday evening, May 2.

The Ogden Musicians' union will give a second dancing party that date at the White City.

For the first hour and a half the music will be provided by a band of 20 or more musicians.

For the second hour and a half there will be an orchestra of 20 or more instrumentalists.

From the popular expression of the dancers, the musicians will learn which kind of music is more popular—band or orchestra.

Ogden bandmen have been rehearsing every Sunday for more than a year at the Ellis club under the direction of Arthur Agge, so the bandmen are in just as good trim as are the orchestra musicians.

For each of the test organizations the pick of the available Ogden union musicians will be employed.

These musicians are volunteering their services. The receipts from the sale of tickets to the sport versus dance will go into the relief fund of the union's treasury.

General arrangements are in the hands of a committee made up of Ray Yeaman, Earl Wecker and Darrell J. Greenwell.

The second annual baseball dance of the Ogden baseball club of the Northern Utah league was held at the White City last night with more than 1000 in attendance.

Although the exact amount of profit to the ball club could not be determined today, it was estimated that the team will realize between $400 and $600 on the undertaking.

Members of all of the leading business clubs of the city co-operated in putting the dance on.

Vice President Jesse Richards of the ball club in speaking of the dance today said:

"The annual dance given for the benefit of the Ogden baseball club last evening was, without a doubt, one of the most successful dances held this season. The dance was managed by a committee appointed by the Rotary, Progressive Business Men's, Lions' and Engineers' clubs, with S. T. Jepsen as chairman. More than 1000 were in attendance and enjoyed the dancing until 1 a. m. In order to make the dance a real success, the committee decided to have two orchestras in order to give continuous dancing. Manager Joseph Goss of the Berthana kindly postponed his usual dance in order that the baseball club might have full swing for the evening. The entire Berthana orchestra was at the White City playing alternately with Oll' Reeves' White City orchestra."

"The proceeds from this dance, after paying the necessary expenses, will be used in helping to finance the baseball team."

"The officers and directors of the Ogden baseball club desire to publicly thank all who helped make this dance a success, the different civic organizations, the committee, Mr. Warren Blinford, who had charge of the sale of tickets by young ladies over the city, and all others who in any way helped to make the dance a success. A neat sum was realized, after paying all expenses, which will help start the team on its way."
